CORPORATE STATEMENT
February 28, 2003
REGARDING Kids.us

NeuStar is pleased to announce that it has met a key statutory requirement towards launching kids.us, the Internet's first, trusted online forum for children 13 and under, by amending the existing dot-us Management and Administration Contract to include the management of the kids.us namespace.

NeuStar is working closely with the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA), an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce, to finalize the registration process and launch schedule. Both NeuStar and NTIA want to ensure that the launch is managed in a highly responsible manner to address the rigorous requirements set forth in the "Dot Kids Implementation and Efficiency Act of 2002," (Public Law No. 107-317).

Over the past several months, NeuStar has received widespread interest in and strong support for creating a positive Internet experience for America's children. NeuStar looks forward to bringing the same level of trust to kids.us that it has brought to the management of other public resources such as telephone numbers and Internet addresses.

Please continue to visit NeuStar's website, <http://www.kids.us>, for frequent updates on the development of the kids.us domain. To subscribe to the mailing list or express interest in becoming a kids.us reseller, please send an email to kids@neustar.us.
